

I am oppose to lift the ban on cross ownership of media in a given city. It seems to me that the FCC has failed in any way to protect the public interest over the years. Thanks to the ruling allowing companies to own multiple stations, we have no classical radio in Detroit.

The airwaves should be used for the public good, not to create multi-billioanaires.

Richard J. Hendin